

BOY KILLER HAPPY TO GET LIFE

Pleads Guilty at Trial
for Murder of Man
During Holdup

HE FEARED EXECUTION

Grins Broadly When He Gets Prison Sentence

Crown Point, Ind., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Perry Swank, the 15-year-old school boy pleaded guilty before Judge Martin today to the murder of Eugene Duckworth and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The youth changed his plea of not guilty immediately after his trial was called.

Swank, who confessed he killed Duckworth while robbing the latter's filling station, and showed indifference to the crime after arrest, visibly paled when Judge Smith, during his remarks preceding the sentence mentioned electrocution.

"If all killers were electrocuted," said Judge Smith, "we would have fewer crimes like the one to which you pleaded guilty."

As the sentence was pronounced, however, the boy's face broke into a broad grin. He turned to his attorney and shook his hand vigorously. His parents sitting nearby showed no emotion.

In an effort to establish mitigating circumstances the defense placed Swank on the stand to testify that on the day of the shooting he drank a half pint of whisky with Miss Alma Long, an unmarried mother living at his home, and that he was intoxicated.

Miss Long, however, denied from the stand that she had given the boy liquor on that day, admitting that they had had a drink several days earlier.

The confession Swank made soon after his arrest was admitted into the testimony. The boy said the holdup was to get money for school books. Later he changed this version and said he wanted the money for Miss Long. He got $45 in the robbery and gave the money to the girl, who later turned it over to Swank's mother.

Mrs. Duckworth, widow of the slain man, who was known to residents of Lake County through years of service as a deputy sheriff and town marshal of Lowell, Ind. Deputy Coroner Chester A. Owen and deputy sheriffs gave brief testimony for the records.

In changing his plea, Swank escaped trial on an incident charging murder during robbery with a gun which carries a mandatory death sentence.

ADMIRERS DONATE TO REPAIR PLANE

Charlotte, N. F., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Schoolboy's pennies along with dollars from the groupings will pay for repairs to the plane of Al Williams, former navy ace, cracked up here yesterday as the southern air pageant came to a close.

Williams had hardly stepped from the plane unhurt after smashing it against an embankment at the Charlotte airport before a movement for contributions toward repairing the plane was launched among his admirers. In the first few minutes $259.99 was given and the contributions were still coming in today.

The former Schneider cup flier was downcast when he crawled from the $15,000 plane, bought with his savings from 14 years in service, and saw the under carriage torn away.

"I've been trying for a year to get her," he said. "I chiseled around from the army to the navy and kept after it until I got it—and now look at her."

Williams blamed water in his gasoline for the crash.

EDISON STILL LIVES DESPITE WEAKNESS

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The same determination which enabled Thomas Edison to create realities out of dreams, was sustaining his enfeebled life today.

His physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said, however, that the 84-year-old inventor was too weak to live many more days.

For the first time in five days the "Wizard of Menlo Park" was taken out of bed yesterday and placed in a chair. This, Dr. Howe explained, was necessary to rest his back. Mr. Edison also was able to take a little nourishment, he had been in a stupor for several days and had eaten very little.

GLORIFICATION OF GANGSTERS IS CONDEMNED

PRESIDENT ASSERTS PRAISE
FOR POLICE WOULD PUT
END TO CRIME WAVE

Washington, October 12.—(AP)—Change in public sentiment shifting from the criminal to the policeman the role of popular hero, was advocated today by President Hoover as one means of stamping out excessive crime.

In a radio message to the opening meeting of the International Association of Chiefs of Police at St. Petersburg, Fla., he condemned the "glorification of cowardly gangsters." The president spoke from the cabin room of the White House.

"If the police had the vigilant, universal backing of public opinion in their communities," he said, "if they had the implacable support of the prosecuting authorities and the courts, if our criminal laws in their endeavor to protect the innocent did not furnish loopholes through which irresponsible, yet clever, criminal lawyers daily find devices of escape for the guilty, I am convinced that our police would stamp out the excessive crime and remove the world-wide disrepute which has disgraced some of our great cities."

The president recalled that in some communities the police had been heavily criticized, but added he believed this criticism arose "from the exception and not the rule in police conduct."

RADICALS ALL SET TO PUT UP FIGHT IN GERMAN REICHSTAG

Overthrow of Government Aim as Socialists
Become Military

Hapsburg, Germany, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Leaders of the Nationalist opposition united forces today for a death struggle in the Reichstag, opening tomorrow, to overthrow the government of Chancellor Brüning.

They drew inspiration from a joint meeting of the National Socialists, Nationalists, Steel-Helmets, and other Rightist groups, which transformed the peaceful Spa into a military camp yesterday. Military commands were mapped out, the Fascist salute was exchanged and bells elicited in war-time fashion as clergymen invoked Divine aid on "this decisive day for the liberation of the Fatherland."

Adolf Hitler, leader of the brown-shirted "Nazis," said the Brüning government was responsible for all of Germany's troubles and that the nation must be prepared to wage war if necessary to regain its freedom.

"We must bring the German people up to the same standards of honor that other nations have," he said.

Referring to France, he said that while the German people were faced with economic ruin "the military power of one European nation is being elevated to a hegemony that most seriously threatens peace."

Dr. Alfred Hegenberg, Nationalist party head, carried out Hitler's theme with the statement that the purpose of Premier Laval's coming visit to the United States was to link the two greatest gold-holding nations in the world and to dissuade America from her disarmament program.

He warned Chancellor Brüning cabinet: "Get out or we will storm your ramparts."

A resolution was adopted demanding the immediate resignations of the Federal and Prussian governments and stating the opposition's willingness to assume power, declaring that Germany must decide between Communism and Nationalism.

HERE'S A SAMPLE OF MODERN BIBLE

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—An insight to the kind of phraseology new American Bible of Dr. J. M. Powis Smith and Dr. Edgar Goodspeed of the University of Chicago is to have, was made public today.

The Lord's Prayer, for example, will read as follows:

"Our Father in heaven, your name be revered. Your kingdom come! Your will be done on earth as it is done in heaven! Give us today bread for the day, and forgive us our debts as we have forgiven our debtors, and do not subject us to temptation, but deliver us from the evil one."

The new Bible is to make its appearance next November 10.

BOYCOTT URGED BY MOONEY

Convicted of Bombing in 1916, He Insists He Is Innocent of Crime

BOYCOTT FOR PARDON

California Is Target of Radical's Scheme

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Tom Mooney, whose conviction of the San Francisco preparedness day bombing in 1916 resulted in a controversy that has raged since he was imprisoned for life, today sought a world-wide boycott of California products because of the state's refusal to grant him a pardon.

His plan, which also suggested that his many sympathizers discourage tourist travel to this state, was outlined in a letter to a mass meeting in the civic auditorium here yesterday. The meeting was called to lend added force to the drive for a pardon.

Mooney was convicted with Warren K. Billings, of planting the bomb which killed 10 persons and injured 40. He suggested in his letter that an "intensive, world agricultural drive should be set in motion at once."

It was written from San Quentin prison, where Mooney has been incarcerated 14 years as the result of what he asserts was perjured testimony. Billings also sentenced to life imprisonment, is in Folsom prison.

McNeely attributed his conviction to "one of the foulest and most diabolical outrages ever perpetrated," declaring the chief investigators were "big business and banking elements of San Francisco." He has refused to seek parole.

Use of every legitimate working class tactical weapon was urged to assist him in getting a pardon.

He asked that athletic clubs refuse to come to the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles, "while I, an innocent man, remain in prison."

Among those who attended the mass meeting were Fred Moore, attorney who defended Sacco and Vanzetti; Fremont Older, editor of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin; John D. Barry, newspaper columnist; Oscar Ameringer, Oklahoma Labor Paper editor, and Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of the convicted man.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., film actor, flew from Los Angeles to be present, and Rupert Hughes, author, sent a letter in which he said "California needed a scapegoat and Mooney was it."

FARMERS RAID JAIL IN COW TEST FLIGHT

New London, Ia., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Several hundred men stormed the New London jail at noon today, breaking the lock, bending cell bars and liberated Ronald Hart, arrested earlier by Iowa National Guardsmen after he allegedly scoffed at troopers who attempted to disperse a gathering of farmers in protest against the state tuberculosis cattle test law.

Dyer, Ind., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The body of Anthony Ialongo, 40, South Chicago grape dealer, was found by hunters in a woods near Griffith, Indiana, yesterday.

He had been shot through the head twice; his skull was crushed.

CLEVELAND'S ROW COMES BACK AGAIN

Cleveland, O., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Clevelanders are at it again.

For the eighth time in 10 years, residents of the largest city in the United States with a city manager are in controversy over the retention of this form of government.

Seven times since 1922 when the manager form of government was approved have they gone to the polls and defeated amendments to the charter to abolish the manager's office, and 25 days from today they will vote again.

This time it is on an amendment drawn up by attorney Paul S. Danaceau, persistent opponent of the plan, to bring back the mayor system.

He has revealed that a number of New York negro organizations have invited him to go to the United States and address them on racial problems.

GANDHI IS HAILED AS NURSES BY HARLEM

London, —(AP)—Harlem hails Mahatma Gandhi as "a second Moses to lead all colored races from the wilderness of bondage into the light of freedom."

He has revealed that a number of New York negro organizations have invited him to go to the United States and address them on racial problems.

CHARTER FOR POOL OBTAINED HERE

The Delaware state house, at Dover, is the scene of the chartering of the $500,000,000 banking pool corporation which is expected to loosen frozen banking credits. Large corporations obtain charters in Delaware because of easier conditions there.

CHICAGO GANGS AT WAR AGAIN

Three Hoodlums Slain in Outbreak — McErlane Is Seen as Storm Center

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—A new flareup of killings apparently has broken the peace that has reigned for months in gang strife on Chicago's south side. Two men were slain.

James L. Quigley, said by police to have been a former partner of Frank McErlane, and Edward "Spike" O'Donnell, but more recently to have been their enemy, was one of the victims. The other was George Wilson, 33, once a policeman. He was found on a south side street last night, pierced by machine gun and pistol bullets.

Quigley's body was fished yesterday from a drainage canal. He had been shot to death. The police theorized that his death might have had some connection with the killing of Eddie Fitzgerald, chauffeur for McErlane, and McErlane's sweetheart, Marian Miller. Fitzgerald was dragged from a saloon and shot to death last spring by a trio of men, one of whom was recognized by witnesses as Quigley. Later an attempt to slay Quigley with machine guns was made. McErlane and O'Donnell were suspected of the attack.

Wilson was a small liquor peddler, the police said. He was found by three girls and was taken to a hospital, where he died.

Dyer, Ind., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The body of Anthony Ialongo, 40, South Chicago grape dealer, was found by hunters in a woods near Griffith, Indiana, yesterday.

He had been shot through the head twice; his skull was crushed.

IT'S STILL MYSTERY

SEARCH OF WEST VIRGINIA
HILLS FAILS TO SOLVE
AIRSHIPS CRASH REPORT

Gallipolis, O., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The mystery of what West Virginians thought was a tragedy of the air was a secret today of the rugged hills across the Ohio river from here.

Several persons said they saw a "blimp crash" and fall into flames in the rough country across the river Saturday, but a search both by plane and on the ground failed to reveal any trace of such an accident. Eastern and midwestern fields reported all of their airships accounted for.

The search was abandoned last night after citizens had tramped through the wooded areas since midnight Saturday and Lieut. D. E. Hodges, pilot at the Gallipolis airport, had made three flights.

Lieut. Hodges offered the only explanation of the mystery.

He said residents might have seen a cruising airship throwing off ballast. The falling sacks of ballast might have been mistaken for airmen taking to their parachutes and would have given the appearance of smoke reported by those who said they saw a blimp in flames.

MOTHER IDENTIFIED AS POISON BUYER

Lebanon, Ind., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Charles W. Friedman, Indianapolis druggist, testifying today in the Simmons murder trial.

Identified Mrs. Carrie Simmons as a woman to whom he had sold poison on June 18, three days before the woman's little daughter Jean was poisoned in this city.

CAPONE BODYGUARD JAILED AS CAUGHT IN COURT WITH GUN

Gandland Overlord Bored
with Proceedings Over Income Tax Fraud

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—An overzealous bodyguard who carried his vigilance and his pistol into court displaced Al Capone today on the docket of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The scar-faced gang leader and his income tax trial must wait, the court decreed, until Phillip D'Andrea and the matter of his courtroom gun-toting were disposed of.

D'Andrea is the "shadow" who sat behind Capone inside the courtroom and dogged his footsteps outside. Ordinarily, D'Andrea is more of a companion and confidant than a bodyguard. Coming out of the courtroom Saturday, he was searched and a loaded pistol found on his person.

"There is a rule of the federal court of long standing and one unquestioned in disposition of cases of this kind," said Judge Wilkerson. "It is stated that any man or counsel or witness who comes into court armed should be punished." So D'Andrea spent the week-end in the county jail.

When the court had disposed of the proposed contempt of court case against D'Andrea and several others falling on Judge Wilkerson's calendar today, the prosecution was ready to present another series of witnesses in its attempt to prove that Al Capone had money, and made money, although he Continued on Page Six

CHINA IS READY FOR WAR WITH JAPAN IN MANCHURIA

DAUGHERTY CASE ASSIGNMENT TO NINTH DISTRICT COURT IS EXPLAINED BY JUDGE ALLREAD

Speculation and Rumors
Now Dissipated by Allread Statement

Naturally enough there has been a great deal of interest manifested by the people of this community as to the manner in which the three judges, Pardee, Funk and Washburn of the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals were selected to hear the case of Ohio vs. M. S. Daugherty on error, seeking reversal of the judgment of conviction entered by the Court of Common Pleas, Judge Charles S. Bell of Cincinnati, presiding.

Naturally, too, there has been much speculation as to the source from which those judges derived their authority to preside in the hearing of Daugherty's error proceedings and much misunderstanding and many erroneous statements made.

The judges of the Circuit Courts of Appeal in Ohio are not under the jurisdiction of Chief Justice Marshall, as to the assignment of judges out of their own districts, as are the Common Pleas court judges. The Circuit Courts of Appeals judges select their own presiding judge who, at the time the Ninth Circuit judges were assigned here, was Judge Hamilton of Cincinnati.

The history of the Daugherty case and the "foreign" judges who heard it, both in the trial court and in the Appeals court is, briefly this:

When Judge H. M. Rankin was disqualified to try the case in the Common Pleas court, by reason of an affidavit of bias and prejudice filed by the defendant, Chief Justice Marshall of the Supreme court, assigned Judge Charles S. Bell of Cincinnati, to try the case, and he conducted the trial in the Common Pleas court which resulted in Daugherty's conviction.

When the judges of this Circuit Court of Appeals, declined to hear the case in which Daugherty sought to reverse the judgment of conviction, they notified the judges of the Ninth Circuit court and requested them to come here and hear the case, according to the statement of Judge Allread made Monday to The Herald. Judge Hamilton, Cincinnati, presiding judge, did not learn of the arrangement until Sunday morning, the day before the case was to be heard here. Sunday morning, after he had sent a telegram here on Saturday, the day before, notifying the clerk of courts here to vacate the assignment for Monday morning, the day following, Judge Allread of our own Circuit court called Judge Hamilton by telephone and informed him that the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals judges had been requested by himself and his associates, Judge Kunkle, of Springfield and Judge Hornbeck of London, to come here and hear the Daugherty proceedings in error.

Judge Hamilton then approved the assignment formally and Judges Pardee, Funk and Washburn appeared Monday morning, as scheduled and heard the error proceedings and last Friday entered their judgment reversing the judgment of the Common Pleas court.

5 IN FAMILY KILLED AS TRAIN HITS CAR

Vinton, Ia., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Five members of one family were killed in a railroad crossing accident yesterday and a sixth is not expected to live.

The dead are: John Demmel, 29; his wife, 26; and three children, Doris, 3, Marguerite 2, and Hazel Irene, three months. Fredrick, 5, a son, was near death with a crushed skull. A seventh passenger, Charles Berger, 15, employee on the Demmel farm, had both arms broken.

The occupants evidently did not hear or see the approaching train and the locomotive struck them broadside, scattering the wreckage and bodies 50 yards down the right of way.

PROHIBITION FIRST OF ALL WITH BISHOP

LET DEMOCRATS NOMINATE
DRY BEFORE TAKING UP
OTHER ISSUES, PLEA

Baltimore, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Baltimore Evening Sun today quoted Bishop James Cannon as saying the west and south drys no longer doubt that prohibition can be enforced.

"Prohibition," the Southern Methodist churchman is quoted as saying, "is now in its third stage. In its first stage the wets said, 'They can't enforce it.' In its second stage they said, 'They can't enforce it,' but now, in its third stage, we drys are doing the talking and what we say is, 'We will enforce it.'"

"Never before had I seen such enthusiasm as I encountered lately in the south and far west. I know, of course, that I was among Methodists, but that is immaterial. They represented fairly the general body of drys. The old doubts and hesitations are gone."

The "thrill" the drys experienced at President Hoover's message to congress with the Wickersham report, and the "heavy and defiant" drinking of the rich, the bishop said, accounted for the change. "The president's message is a x x x turned the tide," he said, adding: "He declared plainly that he was against repealing the 18th amendment and against amending the Volstead act. In other words, he came out as a flat-footed and uncompromising prohibitionist."

"That is precisely what we wanted and needed. The wavering drys now say they had a true friend in the White House and they backed up at once. Today they are full of steam."

Declaring himself a lifelong Democrat, the bishop said he hoped his church would not have to support Mr. Hoover in 1932, or that there would be what H. L. Mencken, Baltimore publisher, calls a "holy war in the south with drums rolling in the tabernacles and a watchfire on every hill."

"My hope," he commented, "is that the Democrats will nominate a dry next year. I don't ask them to adopt a dry platform. x x x"

"All I ask is for a declaration of law enforcement, but I hope for a dry candidate—say William G. McAdoo or Cordell Hull. If either is nominated then prohibition will drop out as an issue and the campaign can be fought on some other ground—say the record of the Hoover administration. If this comes to pass I'll vote for the Dry Democrat and against Hoover."

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The conviction and subsequent parole of Harry R. Goldhurst, former New York broker who handled some stock transactions for Bishop James Cannon, Jr., will be reviewed by the department of justice.

Sackets Harbor, N. Just Settlement or War
Is Chinese President's Spoken Ultimatum

ALL WORLD STIRRED

American Officialdom Is Busy with Conferences

Nanking, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek, president of China, in an address today asserted that if the Council of the League of Nations, convening in urgent session at Geneva tomorrow failed to obtain a "just settlement" of the Sino-Japanese controversy "China will resort to war."

"I hereby declare," said the President, "that the national government's patience has been tested to the last degree. China respects the League covenant and the Kellogg pact, but if the League and Kellogg signatories fail to fulfill their solemnly undertaken obligations, China will not hesitate to make the supreme sacrifice—bankrupt the country for a century and go to war to uphold the sanctity of international agreements and safeguard the peace of the world."

The dispute between China and Japan over the military occupation of Manchuria moved toward the arbitration stage today with statesmen in half-a-dozen world capitals tending to its pacific termination.

The League of Nations secretariat in Geneva was awaiting the arrival of the foreign ministers of Great Britain, Italy and France to participate in an extraordinary session of the Council tomorrow in the hopes of ending the affair without further bloodshed or destruction of property.

The American Consul General Prentiss Gilbert conferred yesterday with Sir Eric Drummond, secretary of the League, over the latest note from Secretary of State Stimson. Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate, again asked on behalf of the Nanking government that the League take "urgent measures toward peace."

The United States in a communication from Mr. Stimson to the League urged that organization to "assert all pressure and authority within its competence" to settle the dispute, renewing its offer of cooperation but reserving its right to act independently through the Kellogg-Briand pact or the Nine-Power Pacific treaty, signed by both China and Japan.

CANTON RESTAURANT IS HELD UP BY GANG

GUNMEN INVADE CROWDED
DOWNTOWN EATING PLACE
AND EVEN LOOT PATRONS

Canton, O., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A gang armed with a sub-machine gun, sawed-off shotguns and revolvers held up 25 diners in a downtown restaurant yesterday and escaped with $2,000 in cash and valuables.

The robbers sped away in an automobile bearing a Michigan license plate.

Two of the gang stayed outside as lookouts while four fled into the restaurant leveling their guns at the startled diners. While one of them obtained $1,500 from the safe, the others took watches, jewelry and cash amounting to $500 from the guests.

The chef ducked out of the rear door and summoned police, who arrived just as the six men were speeding away. The robbers escaped when the police car was held up in a traffic jam.

U. S. CITIZENSHIP DENIED OBJECTORS

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Plea that the Supreme Court reconsider its stand that an applicant for citizenship must take an oath to fight, if necessary, for this country today, failed.

The decision ended hope that Professor Douglas C. Macintosh of Yale and Marie Averil Bland, former war nurse, might become citizens without taking an unqualified oath to bear arms if called upon to do so by the government.

SECRET ENGAGEMENT OF
LOIS CORBIN REVEALED

Would you marry a man whose family disapproved of their son's choice? Could your pride and love carry you through a marriage when you knew you would never be welcomed by your husband's people?
This is the problem of Lois Corbin, pretty stenographer in the Chicago law offices of Scanlon and Scanlon. She is in love with Bruce

Durand, of a wealthy family, and
while her heart aches for the boy
she loves and longs to be with, she has to stand by and see him take out other girls which his family
chose for him.

Read beginning Tuesday how the engagements of Lois and Bruce
is revealed in the great new story,
“Love Stands By,” written by Cleo
Lucas for readers of the Herald.

He was moved to the hospital April 17
of this year, where he has since remained.
It will be some months before
he will be able to be about with-finement in the hospital, his grandson, Charles Schwartz has very capably discharged the duties of cemetery superintendent.

NO WATER NEAR
HOUSE DESTROYED

Because the extreme northern part of the city, or rather a built
up area without the corporation,
has no water hydrants within reach, a house belonging to Lyman Willis, located a square or more
east of the North End Filling Station, was destroyed Saturday night.
The building was found to be on fire around 8:45 and the fire department summoned. However the structure was a mass of flames
and the department, unable to obtain water within several squares,
used the booster line in preventing spread of the fire.
Most of the household effects
also burned, the family being absent at the time.

TEACHERS HOLD
AUTUMNAL MEET

Dwight Ireland Is Elected
President of Association

With an exceptionally good attendance, with deep interest in the entire program, the autumn meeting of the Fayette County Teachers Association was held at the high school auditorium Saturday, with sessions in the forenoon and afternoon, and an exceptionally good
speaker at each session.

Group singing under the direction of Mrs. Amy Hudson, featured the opening, with music later in the morning session by Frances Jean Lamy and Billy Creamer.
Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, spoke at the forenoon session. He is one of the most forceful and interesting
speakers available for teachers
gatherings, and his address left
much of importance for each teacher.

Likewise in the afternoon Dr. W.
R. McConnell, of Miami Universities, speaking on the topic of “The Ideal Teacher”, and touching upon the many qualities that a teacher must possess to be classified as an ideal teacher.

Special music for the afternoon
session was furnished by Mary Ellen Coffman.

A conference of the county teachers with the county superintendent
closed the final session.
New officers of the Association
were chosen as follows: President, Dwight Ireland; Vice-President, W. J. Hilly; Executive committee, H. O. Emery, A. E. Ram-mel and Miss Fay Jobe.

County delegate, to Assembly
of State Education Association at holiday meeting; Supt. M. E. Wilson; alternate, Supt. G. V. Hull.

NEW HOLLAND GIRL
SUCCUMBS SATURDAY

INVALID RUSHED TO HOSPITAL
BUT DIES HOUR AFTER ARRIVAL THERE

Miss Lavina Debenter, 18, died
Saturday afternoon at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, an hour after she had been rushed there from her home in New Holland when the illness with which she had been suffering for more than two years became alarming acute. Although she had been long under the care of a physician, her condition had rarely been such that it greatly curtailed her every-day life.

Bright disease was given as the cause of her death.
She is survived by her mother,
Mrs. Laura Feagans and an extensive circle of friends and more distant relatives.
Funeral services will be held at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, in New Holland, at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and interment will be in the New Holland cemetery.

WILL OPEN CCC
WITHIN FEW DAYS

The detour between Melvin cross roads and Sabina, which has been in force for sometime during the paving of the CCC highway will be lifted within a few days, it is indicated, and traffic allowed to travel
over the new concrete paving at own risk.

At the present time traffic is passing over much of the paving,
and after the last section laid cures a little more, it will be opened to traffic.

The road is now paved with concrete from Sabina to Wilmington.

cinnati being the contractors.

DAUGHERTY CASE
EXHIBITS BACK

The bill of exceptions and exhibits in the Daugherty case, sent by express to the Ninth District

express with charges of $9.95 on the two large boxes it required to contain the innumerable exhibits
and voluminous bill of exceptions.
The exhibits will remain in possession of the Clerk of Courts until
the case is finally disposed of,
which may require some little time.

PILES GO QUICK

Without Salves or Cutting Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation
of the blood in the affected parts.
The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonard's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts.
HEM-ROID has such a wonderful
record of quickly ending even piles
of long standing, that Finley's
Corner Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back—Adv.

CORN CUTTERS
ARE DETAINED

AFTER POULTRY AND PIGS
ARE FOUND IN CAR
New Holland Oct. 12—(Spec)—
Two corn cutters, who were making their getaway with two pigs
and two turkeys stolen from residents of near Crownover Mill, were halted in Chillicothe at an early hour in the morning, and taken into custody after they failed to explain the presence of the fowls and porkers in their car.

The men proved to be Thomas Taylor, 60 and Lawrence Taylor, 25
of Lucasville, R. R. 1, and inquiry developed that the pigs and turkeys had been stolen, the former

from Clark Bayman and the latter from Mrs. A. H. Crownover of the Crownover community.

The pair had been cutting corn
in the Crownover neighborhood,
and were enroute home with their car laden. They will be prosecuted in Pickaway county, it was indicated.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

Following is the statement:

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

"Some interesting figures on comparative costs of operating the County School Districts in the several counties adjoining Fayette County, with the cost in Fayette County.

These statements are found in the Annual Financial Reports of the State Department of Education and are for the school year ending June 30, 1930. The latest available reports at the time this information was obtained.

ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS

"Salary and expenses of county superintendent: Clinton, $3708 and $390 expense; Madison $3500 and $390, Ross, $3443.50 and $309, Highland, $3200 and $309, Pickaway $3403.92, Fayette $2709 and $309, Assistant, Clinton $1,000, Highland $620, Others none.

Clerk or Stenographer, Clinton $1020, Madison $560, Ross $1170, Highland $1200, Pickaway $1080, Fayette, $740.

"Attendance Officer, Clinton $421.50, Ross $1800 and expenses, Highland $312.80, Pickaway $309.10, Fayette $4,374.90.

"Board of Education, Clinton $122.50, Madison $145.50, Ross $357.80, Pickaway $399.10, Fayette $304.90.

"Total administrative costs, Clinton $6872, Madison $4955.50, Ross $7,196.68, Highland $5994.30, Pickaway $6,793.32, Fayette $4374.90.

"Report from Greene county not available. Attendance officer's salary for Madison not available.

Each county district is reimbursed by the State for salary of County Superintendent to the amount of $1000. This comes out of the State General Fund for operating expenses and does not include a dollar of direct tax from any one, but from funds derived from the cigarette tax, corporation and inheritance taxes, etc. Incidentally, the cities and exempted villages do not participate thus in this state fund, but have to meet all of their administrative costs by direct taxes.

"Operating costs in the County Schools as shown by the Annual Reports on file.

"In summarizing the operating costs of the various schools comprising the county district for the year closing June 30, 1931 with the costs for the year closing June 30, 1930, the following condition is disclosed.

The two major items of operating expenses are Cost of Instruction and Transportation Costs. The Cost of Instruction for 1930-31 was $5777.20 less than the previous year.

"Costs of Transportation was $684.03 greater than the previous year. The total reduction in these two major items, alone, was $5093.17. Comparing the total current expenses, the reduction for 1930-31 over the previous year was $10,634.07.

"For school year 1931-32, on the assumption that the terms in the respective districts remain the same as 1930-31, there will be at least a further reduction in Instruction Costs of $2825 and also a reduction in Transportation Costs which can not be definitely estimated at the present time.

No Protection For Suckers
One may wonder at the regularity with which the born sucker is taken in by sharpers of all sorts. But a study of literature prepared to stimulate the sucker's desire for big profits quick tells a story all its own.
It answers the questions of millions, why do not the authorities catch and punish the sharpers instead of contenting themselves with issuing warnings to beware of them. And this literature is conclusive as to the determined character of the hunt that incessantly
goes on to catch them.

That more are not caught is due to their having discovered the safe ground that lies between promises that cannot be fulfilled and a type of appeal that assures cupid's rushing in with demand that his money be accepted in exchange for the thing boomed,
though no promise has been made in connection with it and no one has been solicited to buy. So subtly is the appeal to avarice made, so skillfully is the reader impressed with the merits of that with which it is desired to impress him, that suckers are sure to be hooked without the possibility of any comeback.

One sheet lying on the editorial desk makes an apparently straightforward report of the market position and strength of an obscure mining stock; it has advanced about thirty per cent in two weeks. A good
space in the sheet is given over to historical accounts, apparently accurate, of the rise of well known mining stocks from a lowly state in the market to the position of good investments.

Where to Buy

One of those myths, which begin nobody knows where and are without rhyme or reason, is to the effect that one can buy cheaper out of town. The specious slogan, buy out-of-town and save money,
profits no one but the city concern seeking business
from smaller communities within shopping distance.

Quality being equal, the home-town merchant can give his customers better values than his out-of-town
competitors and, what is equally important, can give each customer the personal service that counts so much in modern business relations. The best guarantee of quality is not the biggest store and the large-est volume of business. In the small city and town where trade is limited, the good will of each customer is jealously cultivated. There the merchant cannot afford to risk the loss of a patron by unfair practices.

When delivery charges or carfare are taken into account, one saves by buying at home for a few cents
more than the catalog price of mail order goods or the sale price of big city merchandise. Moreover, a considerable saving would not compensate one for worry, delay and disappointment that are synonymous with out-of-town buying.

There is also an unselfish community side of buying at home. Communities are only as prosperous as their business establishments. They are an accurate
barometer of community loyalty and progressiveness.

Sales Resistance

If the salesmen of the country were placed end to end, and if the hours that salesmen spend trying to sell you something you do not want were added together, the result would be a tremendous sum in time,
space and matter.

Economists say that if the overhead is to be met factories must work full time, and if factories are to work full time there must be orders to fill, and if there are to be orders to fill there must be some one to create a demand, in other words, salesmen.

Therefore, the reason for salesmen is perfectly clear and the reason they try to break down your sales resistance is perfectly clear. Strangely enough, there are occasions when one wants something. There is no sales resistance to break down. There is no need to create a demand. The demand already exists. It may be a bond, or insurance, or an automobile of a certain make and model, or a house, or a pound of grass seed. It seems the irony of fate that on such occasions the salesmen vanish into thin air.

The answer perhaps lies in the fact that the perfect prospect is almost too good to be true.

SUSPENSION OF WARSHIPS BUILDING UP

Navy League Says Uncle Sam Would Be Far Behind Others Nations at Holiday's End

By CHARLES P. STEWART.

Washington, Oct. 12.—A world suspension of warship building will be strongly urged during the coming winter.

The state department has intimated four different times that the Washington government is favorable to such a plan, but would prefer to have the offer come from some other country.

It probably will come, in the near future.

England is understood to be preparing to request a five-year holiday of the sort suggested. President Laval of France, it is reported, will discuss the plan with President Hoover, while here the latter part of this month. Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy actually proposed it, in a speech at the last League of Nations meeting. Chairman Borah of the U. S. senate committee on foreign affairs recently indorsed it warmly.

The idea appears to have much
to recommend it.

Warships are expensive, and no
one denies that there seldom has been a juncture in history when the world's powers had greater need to economize.

If all of them at once cease the construction of fighting vessels for an agreed period, it would seem that none will gain any advantage.

And yet, argue spokesmen for the Navy League of the United States,
this is exactly what will occur.
That is to say, all will gain relatively in sea strength at the expense of Uncle Sam, should he and the remainder of them stop building
now, simultaneously.

Provided this difficulty can be overcome, observe the league's spokesmen, they will be in favor of the program.

According to the Navy League's showing, England, Japan, France
and Italy are so thoroughly up-to-date with their warship-building
that, even though they make no additions or replacements, each will have a tolerably formidable fleet
still available at the end of a five-year holiday; whereas America's fleet already is so much farther advanced on the road to obsolescence
that five years will see a much larger fraction of its past fighting serviceability.

In so saying, the league folk are not referring to vessels in the capital class—the battleship category.

Under the last naval compact
(the Treaty of London) a holiday
in the construction of capital craft
exists now and will continue until after 1936. As to battleships, America and England are approximately on an equality; the British line-up is slightly stronger than America's but the difference is unimportant.

The present scheme is to extend the holiday to other classes of vessels—cruisers, destroyers, aircraft
carriers and submarines, especially.

While the Treaty of London did not provide for a suspension in the construction of these smaller types of men-o-war, it did limit American, British and Japanese
tonnages in all of them, but nei-

Poetry For Today

QUIET WORKER

You fear you don't amount to
much;
You cringe from contacts others
seek—
You long to gain the common
touch,
And yet you are afraid to speak—
A modesty that is a pain.
Controls you in your efforts fine—
And so you just go on again,
With every simple soul in line.
Think not it naught avails, but know
That in the ranks of quiet smile
Men see the worthy thoughts that glow
Men realize you mile by mile,
There must be quiet workers, too,
And more than all the noise of strife.
They help us feel that skies are
blue,
That joy is part of life.

Brave heart of purpose, on your way!
So very still, so very meek;
Struggling with patience day by day.
And turning the other cheek!
The worker, after all, that counts,
Is he who forthright in his soul
Slowly through love and conscience mounts
Unto the perfect whole.

er America, England, or Japan has built quite up to the limit. Japan has nearly one so; England has not lagged far behind; America is much behindhand, except in respect to submarines, with which Uncle Sam is better supplied than John Bull, though not so well as Japan and France.

England, parenthetically, for geographical reasons does not like submarine warfare and frequently has tried to have it outlawed but always has failed, due to French and Japanese balking.

What France and Italy desire is a matter, to be sure, of little direct consequence to American naval experts, further than that the strength of their fleets affects English calculations, which of course do weigh heavily with Washington's strategists in casting up their own reckonings.

Be all that as it may, the three leading sea powers' respective ratios of naval strength, counting
the various types outside the capital class, and averaging them on the basis of present serviceability,
works out as follows:
England, 13.1; America, 10; Japan 9.6.

So much more rapid, however,
will be the deterioration of America's line-up because of its greater present average age, than either England's or Japan's, according to competent naval authorities,
that at the end of a five-year suspension of replacements, they figure the comparison would be:
England, 16; Japan, 13, America, 10.

Before a naval holiday is declared, the Navy League is clamorous
for a rectification of this prospective disparity.

"If economy alone is sought,"
said a retired admiral, who was particular to warn against use of his name, in view of President Hoo-ver's well-known advocacy of a policy of naval retrenchment, "there are plenty of ways of accomplishing it without reduction in America's sea strength."

"Ten years ago, during the period of my last command, the national investment in the fleet was $850,000,000; in shore stations, $880,000,000.

"Of the fleet at that time vessels
representing a $427,000,000 investment, or slightly more than half of the total, were in Pacific waters.
Yet on the Pacific coast there were only two stations, and of these Puget Sound was the only one of consequence, Mare Island lacking
accommodations for large ships.
On the Atlantic coast it was then,
and still is difficult to find a port,
from Passamaquoddy Bay to Key West without its naval station."

"The situation was so ridiculous," continued the admiral, "that a naval board was appointed to weed out the most useless of the number."

"I found even more than I have mentioned. It found naval stations that no naval officer had heard of.
It found a station on the Great Lakes, where war vessels have been prohibited, almost immemo-rially, by treaty with Canada. It found—since the World war, bear
in mind—one station in the south
still engaged in providing timber
for wooden frigates.

"And not one naval station did that board succeed in having abandoned. The politicians would not permit it."

In the beginning, all was perfect.
There was a Garden, but no hoe.

High Spots

In Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

By The Associated Press

The fact that it was not legal a few years ago to kill squirrels at any season, called to attention to the changed conditions in Ohio in the last 125 or more years. The legislature which sat from 1867-1868 was petitioned to do something to destroy the squirrels
which were playing havoc with the farmers' field crops. The woods which yet covered the most of the surface of the state were literally alive with squirrels, gray, black
and red.

The members of the legislature
hit upon an ingenious method of encouraging their destruction, at no cost to the general revenue of the state. A law was enacted which required every male person in the state above the military age 18, to deliver to the clerk of the township
in which he lived not less than 100 squirrel scalps each year. Those who brought in their quota were given receipts attesting the fact.
Those who failed to bring any in,
or fell below the 100 required, were assessed at the rate of three cents
each to the full amount of the defectivity.

For those who delivered more than the quota of 100 scalps there was this provision: They should be paid out of money collected from delinquents at the rate of three cents for each scalp they presented above the quota, as far as the assessment would go. After that they were given receipts for their excess deliveries which should count against their requirements for the ensuing year.

As late as the session of the legislature that sat in 1828-29 the legislature added to an act intended to protect sheep from dogs, also protection from wolves. As late as 1858 the legislature made an appropriation of $350 to pay bounties on wolf scalps. This doubtless arose under a law of 1852 by which bounties of $4.25 each were provided on wolf scalps; so that while this does not figure out exactly even, there must have been about 80 wolves killed in the state as late as 1858. The northwestern port of the state was still a swamp
and was probably the haunt of these prowling wolves.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF OHIO.

Proposed to amend the constitution of Ohio by adopting a section to be designated as section 2b of Article VIII a said constitution for the purpose of authorizing the issuance of bonds to the state in an aggregate amount not exceeding seven million five hundred thousand dollars to supply funds for the construction and repair of buildings, the equipment and furnishing thereof, and the purchase of land for the use of the welfare institutions of the state; and to that end authorizing the issuance of bonds and directing the levy of taxes sufficient to pay the interest and principal thereof.

sued $7,500,000.

num.

November 4, 1931, and July 1, 1932.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of all the members elected to each house
thereof agreeing thereto:

Section 1. There shall be submitted to the voters of the State of Ohio, for their approval or rejection, at the general election on the Tuesday after the first Monday
in November, 1931, a proposed amendment to the constitution of Ohio by adopting a section to be designated as section 2b of Article VIII
of said constitution, reading as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

Section 2b. "The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund" created in this article shall,
for the purpose of this amendment,
proceed to issue and sell at public sale, from time to time, under such regulations as may be ordered by the board of public safety, not less than par and accrued interest, not to exceed the total sum of seven million five hundred thousand dollars of bonds of the State of Ohio, bearing interest at not to exceed five per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, and maturing in ten equal annual installments commencing not later than the first day of January, 1934, and not earlier than eighteen months after the issuance of such bonds. No such bonds shall be issued to mature later than the first day of January, 1943. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury of the State of Ohio to the credit of a fund
therein to be known as the State Welfare Reinvestment Fund. Said fund shall be expended without appropriation by the General Assembly, but subject to approval and allocation by the emergency board, for the purpose of supplying funds as determined by the director of public welfare, for the construction and repair of buildings, the equipment and furnishing thereof, and the purchase of land for the use of existing or new welfare and dependent institutions of the state and for no other purpose. For the payment of the interest on such bonds and the installments of principal thereof, at the same mature, and to meet the expenses of administration hereof, any fund or funds in the state treasury, available by law for appropriation for the purposes for which said
bonds shall have been issued shall without appropriation of the General Assembly, be paid out upon the order of the said "The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund" to the extent necessary, but the General Assembly
may make appropriations for such purposes
out of any such funds, which appropriations
shall be first exhausted, before any unappropriated moneys shall be so withdrawn. The full faith and credit of the State of Ohio is hereby pledged for the adjustment of said bonds, and the payment of all the interest thereon said "The Commissioners of the Sinking Fund" shall render a final report to the General Assembly. The provisions of this section shall be self-executing
in the manner provided by law, shall prescribe
the form of the ballots to be used at the election in section 1 hereof, for the submission of the proposal therein provided for,
but said ballots shall distinctly state the amount of bonds authorized to be issued,
the period within which they may be issued,
the maximum rate of interest thereon and
the purpose for which the same are to be issued.

the afternoon of the opening day by Mr. Charles Sherwood of the Ohio Mental Hygiene Association and action for or against support of the measure will be decided in executive session before the convention adjourns.

Committee chairmen are looking forward especially to the sessions scheduled with Miss Edith Rockwood, National Secretary of the Public Welfare Department of the League, who will come to the convention directly from a conference in St. Louis where she met with state public welfare chairmen of the middlewestern section.

LIVING AND LOVING

BY VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am in love with a married man whose wife claims she no longer cares for him. Do you think that I should encourage him to divorce her and marry me?"

"My boy friend is a traveling salesman and can easily stop in Reno long enough to secure a divorce. My parents do not wish for me to marry this man. He is only 37, while I am 18.

"In what states may I be married without my parents' consent, could they have the marriage annulled."

"GOLDIE LOOKS."

I think you will be a much happier girl if you listen to what your parents say, Goldie Looks. A man of 37 is too old for an inexperienced girl of 18. If he is unhappy with his wife and she with him, and has no children, he could easily get her to divorce him and then he would be free to woo and win another girl.

Don't think of marrying him without your people's approval. I don't know the law on the rights of parents to annul the marriage of a minor without their consent. You would have to ask a lawyer about that.

WAITING-FOR-ADVICE: If it makes you miserable to go with this boy friend and you always quarrel, why do it? Is it true that you go with other fellows, so you hardly have the right to expect him to give up other girls, or this one other girl of whom you are jealous, have you?

From what you say I should think he likes you better than he does her, so try hard to crush your jealousy down and not let him see it. Your one chance to win him is to show him that you like him and give him a good time while he is with you. Quarreling won't help. It will only drive him away.

I would advise you to keep on going with him as well as with others, to stop quarreling and nagging him about his other girl friend.

The story of A girl who went to New York for fame and fortune

TUESDAY NIGHT.

DEAR DIARY: I began to say: "I hope you like me in this outfit," but I didn't. I began to murmur: "Would you believe it, I've never had on a one-piece bathing suit before—not in all my life!" But I couldn't. I just turned my eyes to his—and he wasn't looking at my face.

He ran his hands into his pockets and his eyes ran along me . . . and when they rested on the red-polished toenails they stopped and started retracing their journey.

I don't know what possessed me then—but I was so determined, Diary, I was not going to be small-town, not going to be frightened by him. I put my hands on my hips, as I've seen mamkins do in style shows in New York department stores, and held one knee straight and one foot a little to the side, in a casual, resting position.

I pushed my chin up and held my shoulders back. All right! I guess Marion Davies had to go through something like this once. And Barbara Stanwyck. And Norma Shearer!

There was nothing to be nervous about, I kept thinking.

Then I began slowly turning, as if I'd been trying to sell some sports shop client the bathing suit I had on. As if I were a mamkin.

The bored-eyed girl was still standing there.

Paul Brooks didn't look bored, exactly. He hadn't said anything, though. I didn't pither. I wondered now that I didn't. You know how you always want to talk when you are ill at ease.

Then I noticed he was looking at my feet. If I do say it myself my feet are not bad. I know lots of girl who say they won't go on the beach without shoes, because they have ugly feet. But I haven't any unromantic corns on my pink toes. They didn't even look pink, with the red lacquer polish on their nails.

Paul Brooks then turned to the girl.

"Give her a light make-up. Huh! the freckles. Take off the red polish. Be sure you get it all off."

I looked at him, surprised. I thought the polish had been nice. He smiled, and gave his head a shake. "Take off the eyelashes, and the hair back from the forehead. Tell her how to stand . . . how her how to hold her head."

In other words, I thought, I'm going to be changed, completely. All my confidence would have faded the head of a pin just then.

As I turned to follow this girl I felt tears squeezing into those patted-on eyelashes . . . I stepped after . . .

Then I felt someone touch my arm. Paul Brooks had stepped up to me . . . "You're even prettier than I thought," he whispered.

WILMINGTON BANK PAYS 35 PER CENT

Wilmington, O., Oct. 12.—(Sp.)—The Citizens National Bank, closed March 5 because of frozen assets, will pay a 35 percent dividend beginning Tuesday, and approximately 1500 depositors will share in the distribution of $175,000. It is the first dividend paid by the institution, and the large amount is very gratifying to the depositors.

HOLY NAME PARADE 47,000 PARTICIPATE

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 12.—(Sp.)—Approximately 47,000 men took part here Sunday in the annual Holy Name parade at Redland Field. The men renewed the Holy Name pledge renouncing perjury, blasphemy, profanity and obscene speech. The Holy Name Society was sanctioned by the Catholic church, in 1271. The Rev. Thomas P. Conlon, O. P. N. Y. New York, National Director of the Society, was president.

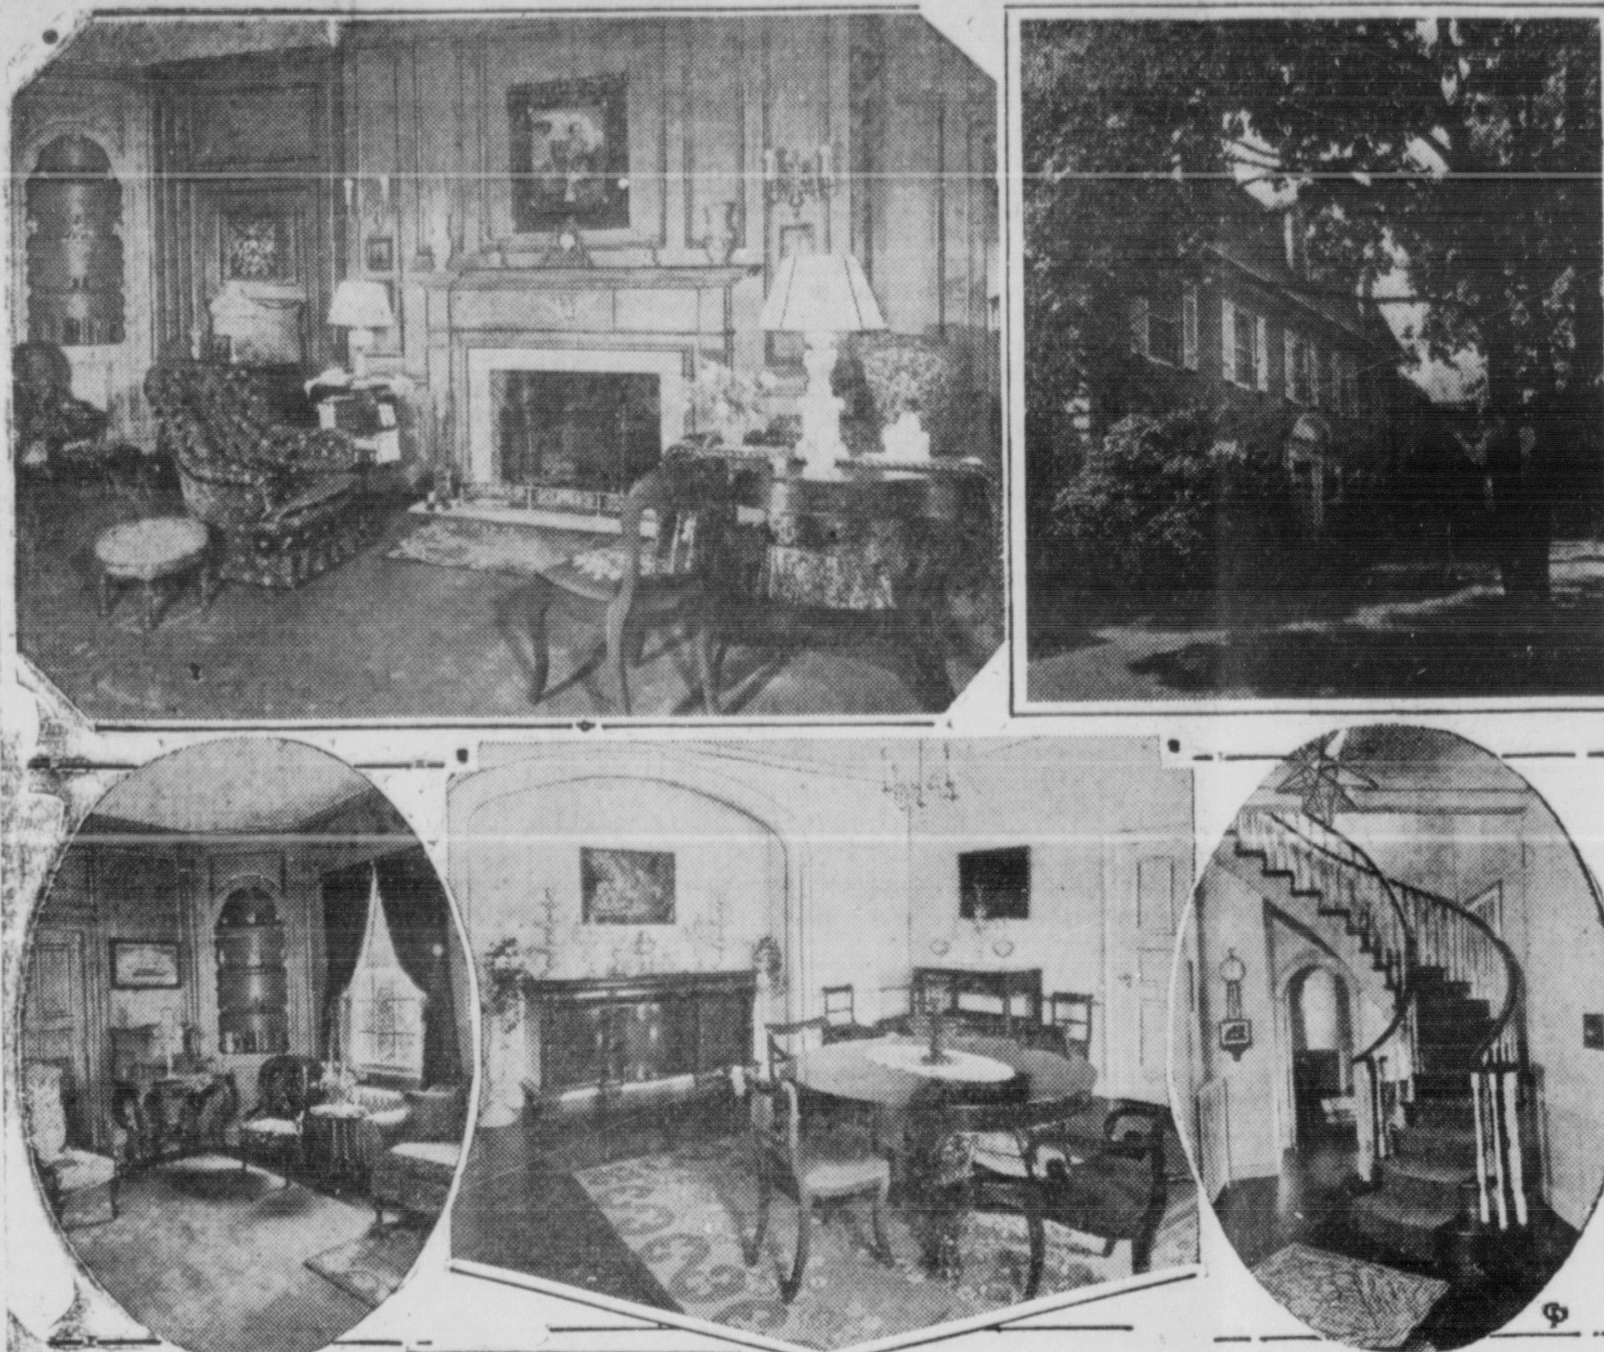

REAL ESTATE BOARDS TO HOLD MEETING

Toledo, O., Oct. 12.—(Sp.)—The Ohio Association of Real Estate boards will open its annual convention here Wednesday, to continue until Friday night. Among the speakers will be Harry S. Kinsell, Springfield, president of the National Association.

Hogs Carry Wheat Surplus To Market

Heitersfield, Ky.—(Sp.)—Although wheat crops ever grown in Grayson county, farmers are little concerned about low prices. A large part of the local crop is fed to hogs, after it is mixed with tankage. By marketing their wheat through their hogs farmers expected to get about $1.26 a bushel for it. Tests last year showed this return could be realized.

Courtly Home Adapts Victorian Furnishings

Victorian decorations have been charmingly adapted to the courtly home of Mrs. Herbert Shipman at Roslyn, L. I. At the left, above and below, are shown details of the living room with flowered curtains, needlework in picture, chair and table runner, and mahogany furniture. The walls are painted to resemble pine. At the upper right is an exterior view of the stately house; below, the entrance hallway with free-standing stair, archway in the back, banjo clock and gay rug; center, shows the dining room with mahogany furniture against simple white walls, vivid hooked rugs on the floor and tea service of old Sheffield. The pedestals are elaborate.

Capone, with a bodyguard, sat glumly at a counsel table today and heard his private affairs discussed before a jury in United States circuit court. He was on trial for income tax evasion.

His two attorneys were busy making light of the government's testimony in his income tax trial. It was all of stuff to Capone—how he paid $12,500 for automobiles, $27.50 for shirts, $4.95 for neckties—and the gang lord paid no heed. He leaned heavily on the table, toyed with a brief case, and at times stared vacantly ahead of him.

For a man who never paid an income tax, the government attempted to show that Capone was considerable of a spendthrift. When he wanted an automobile, he ordered one especially made to suit his purposes and paid $12,500 for it. When he ran short of shirts

tary of state kept in close touch with the situation over the week-end.

The Japanese foreign office in Tokyo received another ultimatum from the Chinese government demanding that Japanese troops be withdrawn from the invading area within a week. A spokesman replied that withdrawal was "impossible until the Chinese make arrangements to govern and police various districts where Japanese subjects make their homes."

The Chinese government at Nanking received a note from Tokyo protesting anti-Japanese agitation, including the boycott of Japanese goods, in China. A high official indicated that China would reply that the movement could not be quelled until Japan restored the status quo in Manchuria.

Ten Chinese were killed and 90 wounded in Canton where police fired on a mob attempting to loot a foreign store after a student protest meeting. The police station was stoned, another store was wrecked and its goods burned in the streets, and lighters discharging Japanese coal were cut adrift in the river.

The British war office in London ordered the First Battalion of the Lincolnshire regiment at Gibraltar to proceed to Shanghai Wednesday to augment its present force, but denied there was any connection with the Sino-Japanese controversy.

Chiang said, however, the Nanking government hoped the League Council would take effective measures to settle the Sino-Japanese trouble, thus preventing almost inevitable war.

He said China also trusted that the League would "properly punish" Japan on the ground that the latter had refused to abide by the League's decisions and occupied Chinese territory without justification.

The President, who also is commander-in-chief of the Chinese Army and Navy, said his country had appealed to the League in this emergency not as a supplicant for protection, but because the League covenant obliged its members to follow such a course.

Chiang's speech, which was delivered at the government's weekly memorial service, was interpreted as indicating Nanking officialdom was virtually marking time with respect to the controversy with Japan over the latter's occupation of Southern Manchuria and was anxiously awaiting developments at Geneva.

STOCK MARKET HAS HOLIDAY

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Wall street had a holiday and the banks were closed. Except for that, and a few commemorative celebrations, New York observed Columbus Day quietly.

Of the formal observances centered at Columbus Circle, where stands the monument to the Genoese adventurer, Emanuel Grazi, Italian consul general headed the group which planned ceremonies and the laying of a wreath at the base of the monument statue.

Market Report

Fayette Producers' Association.

The tone of the hog market has strengthened since the first of the month even with heavier receipts than a year ago. Last week Chicago had 140,000 hogs compared with a week ago of 138,000 hogs. The average cost of hogs there last week was $5.21 compared to $5.05 for a week ago. The low spot this year was for the week of September 28 to October 3rd. The optimism of the present market should probably not lead one to believe that the market will not go lower when the heavy fall run of hogs from the west starts in late November and December.

Total receipts last week to the Association amounted to 19 decks, including 1206 hogs, 29 calves, 172 sheep and lambs and 9 cattle. Patrons received for top hogs, $5.50; top calves $10 and top lambs $6.00 per cwt.

New low prices on Tankage and Meat Scrap are now being offered.

CHAPTER 59

NATALIE had felt Warren Menken's mind working, forming something the thing she dreaded so much for Allyn—publicity.

"I'll get a job and pay you. You must believe me . . . she hated the hysterical note in her voice . . . and the way her hands fluttered.

"I'll pay you whatever you say—only you'll keep it all quiet!" she blinked away a tear.

He took out his handkerchief and patted her cheek. She wished he would not look so pleased. It frightened her, somehow.

"Well, the papers probably will get it . . . you see, you can't out-smart these reporters here in New York. It's such an unusual story . . ."

"But—Allyn wouldn't want the publicity . . . and he'd know . . . he'd never believe then that I didn't help Nita to trick him into marriage . . ."

"Don't worry, girlie—and put some powder on your pretty little nose or had you rather let those little brown freckles show. Personally, I'm crazy about a blonde with little golden freckles on her pretty little tilted nose . . ."

"Oh, you think I'm being foolish—and hysterical . . ." Natalie said, taking out her compact.

"I'm used to seeing hysterical women—say, I'm a divorce lawyer!" But Natalie wasn't so easily diverted.

"Don't you worry any more about it," he patted her arm, "pretty little girlie."

She sighed. "I know," he said, "it's bad when you're in love . . ." Natalie could only nod her head.

"But let me do the worrying . . . it's a swell case . . . and you run along home and leave it to me."

Natalie walked out of that office even more unhappy than when she had gone in—after all, she was giving up Allyn!

But, at least, she had the consolation of knowing that she had taken the first step toward giving him his freedom . . . she had saved her pride the jolt of his trying to be free of her—first!

Was that sufficient? She resolved not to tell Nita about seeing Warren about the matter, but when Nita came home and found Natalie gone she waited until she returned.

"You want to see your lawyer, didn't you?" Nita greeted her.

Natalie didn't answer. "I know you did. I hope this'll be a lesson to you—not to fall in love again . . . love is hokey. I prefer a kick out of life myself—instead of a heartache!"

"I suppose you aren't in love with Charles Young?" Natalie said.

"Well," answered Nita, "at least, I know he likes me pretty well, too. It isn't one-sided. You fell headlong in love with Allyn—before he ever knew you existed."

Natalie didn't say that. "Now, that's using your heart for a football—and leaving your head on the shelf. Or you might as well, if you know what I mean, which you probably don't at all!"

There was no argument for Natalie to advance. Nita was right—she had fallen in love with Allyn, without rhyme or reason. She had not tried to deny her feeling for Allyn, not even to herself. But it was something beyond her power to control.

"Nita, you'd never understand . . . never!" Natalie said.

Nita would not understand the magic of Allyn's smile, or what the deep blue of his eyes did to her. Nita had never seen strong browned fingers hold to a steering wheel and want terribly to touch them, to hold them against her cheek . . .

"Heaven forbid!" Nita answered, sitting at the dressing table to paint her nails with silver polish because she had bought a pink chiffon frock trimmed with silver lace, which she was to wear that night.

"Look at him—" Nita referred to the photograph of Allyn which Natalie had brought away from the Southampton house that night.

Natalie did—she looked at it a hundred times a day as she went about the little apartment setting it in order.

"Just the usual pattern—tall, lean, blue eyes, light hair, nice smile, good spender, car, social register . . . what I'd call standard equipment." Nita chattered, not looking at the photograph but closely to the job of painting her nails with the second coat of silver polish.

"Money. Yes, but he always seems unhappy . . . and when he's unhappy he's drinking instead of working out his problems . . ."

"Nita . . . he wouldn't though if he were happy . . . if he found somebody he really loved and who loved him . . . not the selfish way that Kelsey person loved him—or the selfish way you pretended to love him . . ." Natalie's voice gained in tone.

The boyish, lovable smile of the photograph seemed meant as a reward for Natalie's defending him. She felt as if she never could look at it long enough to satisfy the hunger in her heart.

"Well, way should I settle back among a lot of yellowed pages of the social register and be just a wife when I might be a star on Broadway!" Nita snapped, but Natalie knew by the tone of her voice and the nervous way she spoke she was trying to defend herself and that underneath Nita knew she had not been fair with Allyn—or Natalie.

The nature of the sisters was a different as night and day. Natalie was to learn much later that Nita had been so worried she couldn't work during the time she had been gone with Allyn, that Nita had done everything in her power to locate Natalie . . . and then when she found her she greeted her with a smile and pretended monochrome.

It was only a week after Natalie's visit to Warren that every New York paper printed a story much like the following:

SISTER TAKES BRIDAL VOW A PROXY

"Married by proxy to one girl although her sister was the actual bride," Allyn Brady, son of wealthy Southampton family, is in the middle of what has been declared to be New York's prize marital mixup.

"The two girls involved are Miss Natalie Dudley and her sister, Nita, tune crooner at the Golden Sands Night Club. And the husband is heir to the Brady millions."

"Natalie's name appears on the marriage license and on the marriage certificate, but it was Nita who actually said 'I do' at the ceremony."

"On the other hand, it was Natalie who went on the honeymoon, spent in the palatial villa of Brady's parents in Southampton."

"Natalie considers herself Brady bride, legally, and is seeking an annulment!"

Natalie called Warren Menken on the phone. "Don't worry about what the papers say at all," he tried to comfort her.

Then she said, "What're you doing tonight? Couldn't we go out and ring door bells or something? How about some wup-py makin' tonight baby?"

She hung up the phone.
